AUSTRIAN WINE
The Art of Wine. Down to Earth.

Austrian wine and VieVinum, Austria's most important wine festival, are inseparably linked. The magnificent rooms of the HOFBURG palace in the heart of Vienna have always been the stage for this showcase of Austrian wine. This is also where visitors will find ample opportunity to meet international winemakers and their wines. A high-ranking industry meeting and centre of attraction for wine experts and wine lovers from all over the world. As a "Special Edition", VieVinum 2022 offers more space, more security and more time for conversations and discussions at the stands. In addition, its "School of Wine" invites visitors to delve deeper into specific wine topics via a wide range of masterclasses.

Also, the two Italian wine regions of South Tyrol and Sicily will enjoy the spotlight as this year's guests of honour; producers from these regions will conquer the hearts - and palates - of wine lovers through their small-production wines from autochthonous grape varieties.

SOUTH TYROL AND SICILY AS SPECIAL GUESTS AT VIEVINUM

One country, two regions - Mediterranean and Alpine. Both represent the flair of the South, yet they couldn't be more different from each other. The Alps and Etna are two independent "poles" that have allowed for completely individual terroirs to develop. Today they are home to rare grape varieties such as Grillo, Nero d'Avola, Lagrein and even Weissburgunder (Pinot Blanc). A deeper insight into the essence and the wines of these wine origins will be explored in masterclasses at the School of Wine.

ERSTE & GROSSE LAGE OF THE ERUPTION WINEMAKERS - IN AUSTRIA'S VULKANLAND STEIERMARK

A new beginning in Vulkanland Steiermark! Convinced that the power of the soil together with their skills as winemakers are key ingredients of their single vineyard wines, the members of this dynamic group have set about creating their own official single vineyard classification, choosing LACON as their independent control body. Now they are eager to show how consistent they are in what they do - and just how well this can be combined with drinking pleasure. Nine wines certified as Erste Lage and Große Lage will be presented at this tasting; one of the wines is from the current vintage, and another is from a mature vintage.

LEITHABERG, LIMESTONE AND SHIST

The winegrowers from Leithaberg aim to vinify exciting, mineral, and structured wines. The unique soil structure of Leithakalk and slate lay the foundation for these mineral wines. The cooling effect of the forests of the Leitha Mountains brings finesse and liveliness to the wine. In addition to the heat-regulating function of Lake Neusiedl, the warm winds from Pannonia bring the necessary maturity. Nestled between the Leitha Mountains and Lake Neusiedl, wines with the Leithaberg DAC seal are vinified from the regional varieties Chardonnay, Pinot Blanc, Grüner Veltliner, Neuburger, and Blaufränkisch with careful attention to tradition and work for hand in hand with nature.

WORLD CHAMPION SWEET WINES – A QUESTION OF ORIGIN!

"What are the most unique sweet wine regions of the world? The west and east shore of Lake Neusiedl – no doubt for me!" says Dr. Josef Schuller MW, director of the Austrian Wine Academy, Master of Wine and host of this masterclass tasting. In the last 500 years of history the sweet wines of these regions were wines of Kings and kings of wines. The Freistadt Rust doing this with the longest tradition – at least until the 16th century. The east bank of Lake Neusiedl – here above all the protected sub-region Seewinkel – has become the „rising superstar“ among the major sweet wine appellations in the world over the past 50 years. Burgenland can truly be happy to have defined Ruster Ausbruch DAC and Neusiedlersee DAC as a protected origin for their world champion sweet wines. Don't miss this masterclass tasting with some of the best sweet wines of this entire world.

THE FUTURE OF WINE - WHAT AWAITS US FROM THE YOUNG GENERATION?

Hardly ever before has a young generation of winemakers had so many opportunities to develop and make significant decisions. And this involves going far beyond the pursuit of the best wine quality. They are dealing with issues and topics that range from climate change and the circular economy to autochthonous grape varieties versus new grape variety breeds - and, of course, the omnipresent call for character of origin. At this tasting, 24 young winemakers from the newly launched VieVinum Cross Mentoring programme will each give insights into their personal vision of the future of viticulture based on a selected wine.

A GREAT TRADITION: GERMANY TAKES ON AUSTRIA

A range of grape varieties have featured in the previous national competitions between an Austrian 'eleven' and a team from Germany. Sometimes Austria (captained by Dr. Walter Kutscher) has edged ahead in the final result, whilst on other occasions it has been Germany (presented by VINUM editor Rudolf Knoll) that has been left celebrating. Now we have a new special issue featuring a head-to-head between two prestigious associations that have taken up the cause of vineyard classifications. In the German corner is the VDP (Association of German Prädikat Wine Estates), founded in 1910. Austria's selection of wines is presented by the ÖTW (Austrian Association of Traditional Wine Estates). The grape variety of choice is Riesling from the 2019 vintage, in wines with the designation Großes Gewächs (VDP) and Erste/Große Lage (ÖTW). An evenly divided six-person panel will evaluate the wines in front of an audience.

VDP.SEKT.STATUT WITH CARO MAURER MW

What is the new VDP.SEKT.STATUT all about? What goals is the VDP pursuing with the offensive? And what can you expect from a sparkling wine with the VDP.SEKT or VDP.SEKT.PRESTIGE® designation? Not because sparkling wine is a trendy topic, no, German sparkling wine producers - the Krugs and Bollingers - set the tone in Europe and played a decisive role in the development of sparkling wines. The VDP.Prädikatsweingüter are continuing this tradition and manifesting the production of the highest quality and handcrafted sparkling wines in their ranks with their VDP.SEKT.STATUT. The VDP.SEKT.STATUT also transfers the high quality standards that VDP winegrowers apply to their wines to the production of sparkling wine. Only sparkling wines that meet the strict quality criteria and pass the appropriate tests - similar to the strict regulations of Champagne - may be awarded the VDP sparkling wine seal. Get to know the VDP.SEKT.STATUT and take part in the exclusive masterclass with Caro Maurer MW.
